

ESG COMPLIANCE AND FUTURE ESG REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW MARKET ENTRY

Identifying and navigating ESG risks for an FMCG manufacturer entering emerging markets.

CHALLENGE

The ESG principles (Environment, Social, Governance) of environmental protection, social responsibility and corporate responsibility are a priority for an FMCG manufacturer. Looking to be future-fit and ensure compliance with legal and social expectations our client needed to take a closer look at their current ESG capabilities and how these need to be developed in the coming years in line with expansion strategies.

SOLUTION

A detailed audit of ESG data and reporting and identify opportunities to improve ESG scores while still achieving business goals. Using GRM's model, ESG components are standardised and KPIs summarised providing a planned, structured approach to comply with ESG management and reporting requirements and make ESG goals and progress measurable and comparable. ESG risks are identified and interventions to improve these ESG weaknesses are set into effect.

CASE STUDY

OUTCOME

The findings of the ESG audit and advisory aided our client to save resources, strengthen their business structure, and sustainably increase profitability. Achieving ESG goals has allowed our clients to achieve profitability and maintain competitiveness. By building internal capabilities our client is equipped to keep track of different regulations across their suppliers, manufacturing plants and customers in a plethora of different jurisdictions.
